

I do not appreciate getting called constantly by telemarketers, that is why I am on the no-call list. Not only are these calls annoying, but they occur at very inopportune moments. Therefore, I think the no-call list should be left as is. If this changes, I believe there will be more complaints than ever, because people are used to having peace and quiet, and will not like the constant interruptions.

Thank you